Who we are

DWF Chambers is an expert, quality, streamlined service, operating as an alternative to the external Bar and traditional chambers – saving you money and making communication easier.

How we can help

Operating as an in-house set of chambers, with a dedicated clerking team, DWF's barristers and advocates understand that getting the best results from advocacy relies on specialist understanding and up-to-the-minute experience. That's why DWF Chambers is separated into sub-teams, drawing together experts in personal and catastrophic injury, occupational health and disease, employment and commercial including commercial landlord and tenant and real property, professional indemnity and costs applications and assessments.

DWF Chambers accepts instructions directly, as well as through DWF Law LLP. Whether you need someone to conduct remote or in-person court hearings, in all courts across England and Wales or support with drafting, our commitment to providing the very highest quality legal expertise, at a reasonable cost, sets us apart from the other chambers.

Our expertise

We Specialise in the following core areas:

- Commercial / Dispute Resolution
- Employment
- Personal Injury / Fraud
- Regulatory

Personal Injury / Fraud

We cover the work of a variety of teams within DWF, including Catastrophic Injury, Occupational Health / Casualty, Motor, Fraud and Costs, providing a full service including advisory, drafting and advocacy work as well as attendance and representation at ADR.

We are able to accept a wide range of instructions from very high-value catastrophic personal injury matters down to volume work such as representation at stage 3 quantum hearings.

Unlike traditional chambers, our 'in-house' nature means we are able to draw on deep and broad sector understanding from our position within the firm. Our barristers and advocates sit alongside specialist solicitors, as well as a range of in-house connected services, providing a seamless client experience. This allows us to deliver the very best representation at rates competitive with the external bar.

Working alongside DWF's 1000-strong, award-winning insurance team our Cat PI and Occupational Health advocates bring market-leading insight, deep legal expertise and seamless client service. Our innovative in-house structure supports this in a way traditional chambers can't. By working alongside many solicitors and claims specialists, as well as Medical and Rehabilitation managers, Forensic (our forensic accountancy service) and in-house collision investigation experts, we are able to develop a better cultural understanding of the case, as well as improve its day-to-day management.

Our advocates are skilled in drawing upon a sector-specific understanding of claims ranging from RTA and motor claims, to NIHL and disease claims, EL/PL, product liability, police and prison claims. We have particular expertise in handling interlocutory matters, fraudulent claims and matters relating to costs and case management.

Commercial / Dispute Resolution

Commercial

Our team act in both domestic and international matters in different commercial sectors including contract, sale of goods and professional indemnity. Our team members have wide experience in the specialist County Courts lists and the High Court of England & Wales and experience acting in high-value freezing injunctions. The team has experience acting from the pre-action stage to trial.

Insolvency and Company

Our team act in a range of Insolvency applications across England & Wales. Our advocates are regularly instructed in applications for the extension of the Company's administration term and possession and sale applications. Our team has experience in a range of company law-related matters, from general shareholder disputes, including unfair prejudice petitions, to a breach of fiduciary duties. Furthermore, the team is instructed to advise in corporate transactions.

Property

Our team cover matters such as advice and trials on covenants and easements etc., commercial and residential landlord and tenant work, 1954 Act renewals and dilapidation claims and private client claims for injunctions for example arising out of neighbour type disputes over boundaries and covenants. Our team members have a wide range of experience in the County Court, High Court and Court of Appeal as well as the First-Tier Tribunal. The team has experience acting from the pre-action stage to trial.

Employment

Our employment law advocates represent both employers and employees at all levels of tribunal and Court across England, Wales and Scotland on a wide range of employment claims.

With a particular specialism in advising on discrimination claims unfair/wrongful dismissal, TUPE, misconduct, and regulatory matters. In addition to advising on and leading internal disciplinary proceedings, our advocates understand the sensitive and complex elements within every employment law case.

Unlike traditional chambers, our 'in-house' nature means we can draw on deep and broad sector understanding, from across DWF, in particular in the education and public sectors.

Regulatory

The regulatory team at DWF Chambers has a wide depth and breadth of knowledge of cases in the fields of health and safety, inquests and inquiries, healthcare regulatory and environmental law.

Members of the team have been instructed to both prosecute and defend cases brought on behalf of the Health and Safety Executive, the Environment Agency, the Care Quality Commission, the Food Standards Agency, various local councils, and Fire and Rescue Authorities.

In addition we have experience of inquests, and can assist with representation on behalf of any interested persons. Members of our inquest team have been instructed by mental health charities, the Royal College of Midwives, the Health and Safety Executive and bereaved families.

We also have experience of conducting private prosecutions following fraudulent civil claims.

We have members of the team who are on the list of specialist regulatory advocates in Health and Safety and Environmental Law.

The team have experience representing parties in proceedings brought against medical professionals in fitness to practice and disciplinary hearings.

Members of the Chambers team have also been instructed on behalf of core participants in a number of significant public inquiries including: The Grenfell Tower Inquiry, The Brook House Inquiry and The COVID Inquiry

E Christopher.Hudson@dwf.law

Since joining DWF Chambers in July 2018, Chris has built a broad civil practice representing both claimants and defendants, largely in commercial litigation, personal injury, and costs. Chris is regularly instructed to appear in final hearings including multi-track, fast track, and small claims trials. In addition to being a proficient and experienced trial advocate, Chris is routinely instructed in relation to interlocutory hearings, such as CCMCs, applications, CMCs, disposals, and stage 3s. He regularly receives instructions to draft advices, statements of case, applications, Part 35 questions, and witness statements.

In commercial litigation, Chris has developed broad experience in claims involving jurisdictional issues, contractual construction, software licence agreements, breach of contract, misrepresentation, and company disputes. Chris has a particular interest and aptitude in contract issues which has seen him instructed to appear in hearings and draft documents across a variety of practice areas where contractual disputes arise, including insurance, employment, and debt claims. Chris also has particular expertise in claims involving Data Protection and consumer claims.

In personal injury litigation, Chris takes on a wide range of instructions across many personal injury practice areas including motor claims, occupational health, catastrophic injury, and industrial disease, representing both claimants and defendants in the county court and high court as well as drafting statements of case, applications, and advices.

Chris has a lot of experience in civil litigation and is routinely involved in litigation from issue up to final hearings. He has a deep understanding of civil procedure and costs which ensures he achieves the best possible results for clients. Chris is praised by clients for his strong oral and written skills. He is particularly noted for his robust advocacy style and ability to get to the crux of a matter quickly and effectively. Chris is a member of the DWF Injury Validation Unit panel.

Daniel Tresigne

Barrister, Director

Year of Call: 2016

M +44 (0) 7936 335 591

E Daniel.Tresigne@dwf.law

Daniel has been a member of DWF Chambers since September 2018, having gained previous experience in self-employed advocacy and file handling for a national solicitors firm. Since joining DWF Chambers as an Advocate, he has gone on to complete Pupillage. During that time, his practice has expanded dramatically.

Daniel enjoys a varied practice across personal injury, including RTA, EL/PL litigation and inquests. Daniel also has experience dealing with claims involving breaches of human rights, and cases involving serving prisoners. In addition, Daniel has extensive experience in dealing with fraud and counter-fraud work, having secured multiple findings of fundamental dishonesty and costs orders setting aside QOCS protection.

Daniel also has experience with commercial and chancery litigation with a particular focus on consumer contracts, defamation and data protection claims. Included within his repertoire is insurance recoveries work, and enforcement of judgment debts.

Alongside this experience, Daniel has experience in numerous procedural and costs points which arise as part and parcel of his general practice, including more novel and complex points. This spans from issue and pre-issue of proceedings to trial and appeals; in small claims track, fast track and multi-track litigation in both the County Court and the High Court.

With a reputation as a pragmatic but unrelenting advocate, who is approachable for lay and professional clients alike, Daniel has achieved several notable results which exceed his call.

Daniel is a member of the Personal Injury Bar Association and of the DWF Injury Validation Unit panel.

E Dravin.Bheemah@dwf.law

After a BA in Politics and Legal Studies at the University of Exeter, Dravin read for BA degrees in Business Studies and then Law, after which he took the Bar Vocational Course and a Masters in Advanced Legal Practice. Dravin was called to the Bar in 2010 and shortly thereafter he was headhunted by Stones Solicitors LLP (now part of Trowers & Hamlins) where he developed his advocacy skills working as an Employment Tribunal Advocate. Whilst working at Stones, Dravin cross-qualified as a solicitor via the Qualified Lawyers Transfer Test. Dravin then spent several years working as a solicitor (and subsequently a solicitor-advocate), specialising in Employment Law.

In September 2017, Dravin switched to the self-employed Bar and continued his work as an Employment specialist, but also represented hundreds of clients in a wide range of other civil claims, in particular Personal Injury cases. Over the last five years, Dravin has cultivated a successful practice at the Bar and he has provided representation for clients in complex and high value claims, some of which carried significant reputational risk for the parties involved.

In January 2023, Dravin moved to DWF Chambers where he continues to undertake Employment and civil work. Having worked as a solicitor for a number of years, Dravin understands perhaps better than most the pressures that solicitors face. Dravin welcomes the opportunity to speak with solicitors directly should they need to discuss a case for any reason.

E Ellen.white@dwf.law

Ellen joined DWF in October 2024 after being called to the Bar. Prior to joining DWF she developed her professional skills working as a paralegal, and subsequently caseworker, in Housing Legal Aid. In the course of this she worked with vulnerable clients and their families to achieve the best possible outcome in the face of the threat of homelessness. This involved written and oral advocacy, drafting representations and communicating with professionals of all backgrounds.

Ellen has a strong academic background. After studying History at Undergraduate level, Ellen took a Law Conversion course and achieved a Distinction in her LLM in Law and Legal Practice, and then a further Distinction on the Barrister Training Course. Throughout her legal training Ellen was heavily involved in Pro Bono work, focusing on improving access to justice whilst developing her own professional and interpersonal skills.

Ellen is also a commissioned Officer in the British Army Reserves. Through this she continues to hone her leadership, management and communication styles to fit any scenario.

Outside of work, Ellen competes in CrossFit events in teams and as an individual, bakes enough to feed an army and reads anything she can get her hands on.

E Paige.Dennison@dwf.law

Paige joined DWF Advocacy in January 2021 having spent the years since the completion of her BPTC in a variety of paralegal roles dealing with personal injury, housing, childcare and re-mortgaging so appreciates the demands of case management and handling client's expectations.

Since joining DWF Advocacy, Paige has established her practice predominantly in RTA work in attending small claims trials, CMCs and applications as well as increasing her drafting experience for a variety of matters including; witness statements in support of an applications; witness statements for use at trial; defences and Particulars of Claim as well as advice on the prospects of success.

Whilst Paige's work at Advocacy has largely been Defendant focused, Paige has experience of acting for claimants so is able to assess and understand the position on both sides. Paige is praised by those instructing for the manner in which she takes conduct of the case and by her lay clients for being attentive and supportive pre and post-trial.

Paige also receives an increasing number of instructions to deal with Recovery matters dealing with Bankruptcy Petition hearings and Orders for Sale as she is able to deal with these confidently and concisely in being able to identify quickly what is required in these proceedings.

The majority of her work is dealing with RTA matters, however Paige has expanded her practice into Consumer and Contract matters with an increasing amount of instructions from BT and the commercial team which includes small claims trials, applications as well as the drafting of witness statements and defences.

Kelcie Atkinson

Junior Clerk

E Kelcie.Atkinson@dwf.law

Kelcie is responsible for assisting the clerks with a busy day to day management of the diary and dealing with incoming queries from our advocates, solicitors and external clients.

Outside of work, Kelcie enjoys going to the gym, spending time with her friends and family whether it be shopping, attending gigs or watching 90's films and enjoys learning about Ancient History when the time allows.

The team in action

As well as substantial experience in CCMCs with fantastic results for clients, the team has a proven track record in final hearings.

Due to our team's exposure to so many such hearings, their experience is likely to far exceed that of external counsel of equivalent seniority. Add to this the speed and ease with which internal counsel/advocates can be booked and instructed, then the advantages of using DWF Chambers are clear and overwhelming.

Between May 2022 and April 2023:

- DWF Chambers undertook 3970 court hearings
- DWF Chambers undertook 1900 final hearings
- The team helped to reduce damages claimed by in excess of £3.7m
